It is to hoped that nothing wors than a feeling of chagrin will follow the restoration of the monarchy. ABOUT LEATHER.

Fancy Leathers Include the Skins of Mon keys, Snakes, Flah, Birds, Etc.

Very few people have any idea of the number of different animals that contrib-ute their skins for the adornment of pocketbooks, purses, etc., and make up the large number of odds and ends which people find so useful. Following are some items on the subject from The Trunk and Leather Re-

Monkeys, pigs, gosts, anakes, lizards, al-ligators, sheep, calves, fish, seals and even birds all contribute. The one thing of importance in leather for fancy leather goods is the grain, which influences the price to a very great extent. The number and va-A. M. yesterday. She left Sydney

The most expensive leather sells from 200 tons freight for Victoria and Vancouver, B. C. The Arawa was built ten years ago in Scotland, and since then she has been run-and since then she has been run-skins. Seal sells for $30 to $50 a dozen, and ning between England and the pigskins are sold by the skins at $6.50 to $7 each. Monkey skins are cheaper, selling at $3 per skin, but these latter are very hard but looks larger. She has three to procure at any price. They are made up decks, and her engines are of the by only one or two manufacturers that the triple expansion type, capable of know of in America into the very finest conductive of the triple of leather received the conductive of the imported grade of leather novelties of the imported skins. With the exception of the sealskins, which are tanned in England, nearly all these skins are tanned in Germany, although sheepskins are tanned in France.

A very ingenious imitation of Russian leather has been made of calfskin, perfamed with oil of birch. Lizard skins come largely from Borneo as well as Germany.

The Hottest Spot on Earth. The hottest region on the earth's surface is on the southwestern coast of Persia, on the border of the Persian gulf, judging by the following from an exchange: "For 40 consecutive days in the months of July and August the mercury has been known to stand above 100 degrees in the shade night and day, and to run up as high as 130 degrees in the middle of the afternoon. At Bahrein, in the center of the most torrid part of this most torrid belt, as though it were nature's intention to make the place as unbearable as possible, water from wells is something unknown. Great shafts have been sunk to a depth of 100, 200, 300 and even 500 feet, but always with the same result, no water. This serious draw-back notwithstanding, a comparatively numerous population contrives to live there, thanks to copious springs which burst forth from the bottom of the gulf more than a mile from the shore.

"The water from these springs is obtained in a most curious and novel manner. 'Machadores,' whose sole occupation is that of furnishing the people of Bahrein with the life giving fluid, repair to that portion of the gulf where the springs are situated and bring away with them hun-dreds of skin bags full of the water each day. The water of the gulf where the springs burst forth is nearly 200 feet deep, but these 'machadores' (divers) manage to fill their goatskin sacks by diving to the to fill their goatskin sacks by diving to the bottom and holding the mouths of the bags over the fountain jets; this, too, with-out allowing the salt water of the gulf to mix with it. The source of these submaknown since the dawn of history.

A Brief Epitaph. A facetious story is told of a pauper who, having died in a workhouse, was to be buried in the most economical fashion. The naster proposed to inscribe over his tomb

The guardians at the next meeting of th board forbade such a profligate expendi-ture of the rates and ordered the epitaph to be curtailed thus

Bees and Birds Court Society Bees and birds court the society of man that is, they seek the locality where fields and gardens abound, for they fare better when human industry extorts from the soil the products upon which they subsist A Maine bee culturist says it is the rarest thing in the world to find bees away from the settlements or from openings where flowers grow. It is in the small patches of forest they are oftenest found and generall not far from the edge of the woods. It is the same with birds. There are no sons birds in the northern Maine wilderness and scarcely anything that can be called bird life. Birds cluster around towns and vil-

Things Told About Snails.

There are over 2,000 species of snails, and they are found in all parts of the world are even smaller than a pinhead while others, in France and Italy for in-stance, are cultivated for food and are large enough to make a good mouthful. Snalls are vegetarians and have jaws and tongues of sawlike edge, the number of points on each running into the thousands. On the approach of cold weather the snall throws a film over the mouth of its shell. which tightens like a drumhead. As it becomes colder other films are added on the plan of storm windows.

The poison ivy may be known from its harmless prototype by the number of its leaves. It is the three leafed by of the woods that is dangerous, that having five leaves being safe. A further caution for the woods and country roads is that the poisonous sumac has white berries. No red berried sumae is dangerous, says The American Cultivator, authority for the foregoing. The Title Prince of Wales. The title Prince of Wales is not inherited It is specially conferred on each heir apparent to the crown of Great Britain and Ire land. Thus, the present bearer of the title was born Duke of Cornwall on Nov. 9, 1841, and was created Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester by letters patent on Dec. 8, 1841.
